

Registration, Displays and Posters

Monday, Jan 10, 2005 8:00 - 9:00 AM

Registration was quick and easy.

The presence of Spanish and Native American culture was evident.

Huge glass prisms in the skylights made for interesting rainbow patterns in the foyer.

Breakfast snacks and coffee were available in the display area. Several aisles of displays by publishers, educational institutions, science supply companies, and others were presented.

Several papers were presented in poster format at the rear of the exhibit hall.

Computers connected to the Internet were a popular item for checking email.

Albuquerque lies in the valley of the Rio Grande.
